

Director IIM Sirmour, Prof Neelu Rohmetra and Corporate stalwarts at Leadership Summit on Saturday.

IIM Sirmour organizes maiden 'Leadership Summit'

Excelsior Correspondent

PAONTA SAHIB, Jan 27: Indian Institute of Management (IIM) Sirmour held its first Leadership Summit, here today.

Centred on the theme of 'Shaping Future Leaders in the Era of Disruption', the event was graced by the presence of corporate stalwarts, including Shekhar Tiwari (MD – SCNO, Accenture), Harish Pant (MD, Hampson Industries), Sandeep Tyagi (Director – HR, Samsung Electronics India), Amit Kumar Banerjee (Founder & Director, SAMPARC) and Partho Dasgupta (Chief Mentor, Reliance Industries).

In his keynote address, Shekhar Tiwari highlighted the importance of change management. Drawing from his experience in the IT industry, he argued that with the advent of AI, Machine Learning and Blockchain technologies, understanding oneself and one's capacities is of utmost importance.

Earlier, in her presidential address, Prof Neelu Rohmetra, Director IIM Sirmour, highlighted how leaders shape modern societies. Taking cues from her personal as well as professional life, she underscored the importance of leading by example. She emphasized how leadership is not simply the exercise of one's power but an all-encompassing and an all-pervasive process aimed towards creating an empowering environment for those one lead. "Difficulties are the manifestations of the disruptions that we face and therefore, change is not something to be fought with but something to be embraced", she advised the students of IIM Sirmour.

The first panel discussion on 'The Future of Work in the Wake of the Fourth Industrial Revolution' shifted the spotlight to the societal impact of the machine economy. Chaired by Prof Rakesh V, it involved insightful reflections on the steps that can be taken by the businesses of tomorrow to build a better working environment. The discussion also tackled issues related to the role of Government in facilitating a transition towards a digital economy. Amit Kumar Banerjee, one of the panelists for the session, said that bringing on board a good leader is not a question of money. "Money can't buy leadership," he said. Another panelist, Harish Pant expressed that no one has clarity on how globalization and protectionism will work in sync, and in such an environment, adaptability to disruptions is key to success.

The engaging panel discussion on 'Managing Disruption through Talent Mobility' was chaired by Prof Vaneet Kashyap (PGP Chairman, IIM Sirmour). The panel tried to venture into the profound implications of strategic internal talent redeployment on employee experience and corporate performance. The discussion was initiated by Sandeep Tyagi. Partho Dasgupta showcased how skills can be imparted whereas behaviour, character and attitude are inherent factors that matter significantly. The panellists encouraged the students to build strong foundations without looking at pay packages or limiting themselves to their comfort zone. Sandeep Tyagi emphasized the fact that analytics would be a game-changer in the times to come as it makes decision-making more accurate.

A brainchild of Prof Neelu Rohmetra, this event highlights the concerted efforts of the premiere B-School to reach out to industry.

At IIM-Sirmaur, summit shapes future leaders

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Shimla: The Indian Institute of Management (IIM), Sirmaur, held its first leadership summit on Saturday, centered around the theme 'Shaping Future Leaders in the Era of Disruption'.

The first panel discussion, 'The Future of Work in the Wake of the Fourth Industrial Revolution', shifted the spotlight to the societal impact of a "machine economy".

Chaired by Prof Rakesh V, it involved insightful reflections on steps that can be taken by the businesses of tomorrow to build a better working environment. The discussion also tackled issues related to the role of government in facilitating a transition towards a digital economy.

Amit Kumar Banerjee, one of the panellists for the session, said bringing on board a good leader was not a question of money. "Money can't buy leadership," he said.

Another panellist, Harish Pant, said no one has clarity on how globalisation and protectionism will work in sync, and in such an environment, adaptability to disruptions is key to success.

The engaging panel discussion on 'Managing Disruption through Talent Mobility' was chaired by Prof Vaneet Kashyap. The panel tried to venture into the profound implications of strategic internal talent redeployment on employee experience and corporate performance.

The panellists encouraged the students to build strong foundations without looking at pay packages or limiting themselves to their comfort zone. Sandeep Tyagi said analytics would be a game-changer in the times to come as it makes decision-making more accurate.

Printed from

THE TIMES OF INDIA

At IIM-Sirmaur, summit shapes future leaders

Jan 29, 2018, 01:23 AM IST

Shimla: The Indian Institute of Management (IIM), Sirmaur, held its first leadership summit on Saturday, centered around the theme 'Shaping Future Leaders in the Era of Disruption'.

The first panel discussion, 'The Future of Work in the Wake of the Fourth Industrial Revolution', shifted the spotlight to the societal impact of a "machine economy".

Chaired by Prof Rakesh V, it involved insightful reflections on steps that can be taken by the businesses of tomorrow to build a better working environment. The discussion also tackled issues related to the role of government in facilitating a transition towards a digital economy.

Amit Kumar Banerjee, one of the panellists for the session, said bringing on board a good leader was not a question of money. "Money can't buy leadership," he said.

Another panellist, Harish Pant, said no one has clarity on how globalisation and protectionism will work in sync, and in such an environment, adaptability to disruptions is key to success.

The engaging panel discussion on 'Managing Disruption through Talent Mobility' was chaired by Prof Vaneet Kashyap. The panel tried to venture into the profound implications of strategic internal talent redeployment on employee experience and corporate performance.

The panellists encouraged the students to build strong foundations without looking at pay packages or limiting themselves to their comfort zone. Sandeep Tyagi said analytics would be a game-changer in the times to come as it makes decision-making more accurate.

<https://timesofindia.indiatimes.com/city/chandigarh/at-iim-sirmaur-summit-shapes-future-leaders/articleshow/62686757.cms>

चंडीगढ़ रविवार, 28 जनवरी 2018

अमर उजाला

amarujala.com

सिरमौर

5

नेतृत्व क्षमता और बिजनेस स्किल जरूरी : अमित बनर्जी

अमर उजाला ब्यूरो
पांवटा साहिब (सिरमौर)।

भारतीय प्रबंध संस्थान सिरमौर में लीडरशिप समीट-2018 का आयोजन किया गया जिसमें देश के उद्यमी, प्रबंध और इकोनॉमी के विशेषज्ञों ने आईआईएम के विद्यार्थियों को ऊच्च कोटी प्रबंधन के लिए जरूरी टिप्स दिए। इस अवसर पर बेहतरीन नेतृत्व क्षमता, उद्योगीकरण, व्यापारीकरण, बेहतरीन भविष्य के लीडर, शेयर मार्केट व बेहतर व्याख्यान पर जोरदार मंथन हुआ।

आईआईएम सिरमौर की निदेशक डॉ. नीलू मेहरोत्रा ने सभी का स्वागत किया। उन्होंने कहा कि सबसे प्रमुख लक्ष्य हिमाचल के आईआईएम सिरमौर को सर्वश्रेष्ठ संस्थानों में शुमार करवाना है जिससे इस

सिरमौर में भारतीय प्रबंध
संस्थान लीडरशिप
समीट-2018 आयोजित

संस्थान से निकलने वाले युवा देश की आर्थिकी, प्रबंधन व नेतृत्व में अग्रणी रहें। विशेषज्ञों अमित कुमार बनर्जी, पार्थो दासगुप्त, शेखर तिवारी, हरीश पंत व प्रो. राकेश ने दीप प्रज्वलित कर कार्यक्रम का शुभारंभ किया। विभिन्न सत्रों में विशेषज्ञों ने अपने अनुभव, बेहतर प्रबंध के आधुनिक तरीकों व अवसरों पर प्रकाश डाला।

कार्यक्रम के दूसरे व तृतीय सत्र में पार्थो दासगुप्ता, प्रो. विनीत और डॉ. नीरू मेहरोत्रा ने इकोनॉमी, औद्योगिकीकरण में उतार-चढ़ाव, अंतरराष्ट्रीय-राष्ट्रीय बाजार में विपणन अवसर पर प्रकाश डाला।